

Introduction

To live in contact with people who are not from our country of origin or experiencing moments of interculturality means constantly questioning our attitudes and the actions we take. During your ELISSE internship you will benefit from seminars led by a local supervisor, in the presence of other students. These seminars will help you in this work of questioning.

In concrete terms, you will participate in at least 3 face-to-face seminars during your ELISSE experience:

1. one at the beginning of your internship
2. one half way through your internship
3. and one at the end of your ELISSE internship

Unless otherwise agreed, these seminars will be held at the school/university premises on site. These meetings are important, you must be prepared for them. Proceed to the instructions.
